Can I map the Data Archive in my local computer's drives?

It it not possible to map the Data Archive in your local computer's drives.

To upload and download data to and from the Data Archive use the:

- Web application (see the Web application guide for more information).
- SFTP (see the SFTP client guide for more information).
- Command line script (see the Command line Script guide for more information).

Help and further information:

- To learn more about the Data Archive:
